Quality Control Procedure

The factory operates on a Sami-Vertical integrated model, with in-house knitting of the base cloth used in manufacturing. While the knitting process is handled internally, dyeing and finishing are outsourced commercially, and the materials are then returned to the factory for subsequent manufacturing steps. Among the 150 employees, 5 individuals are directly dedicated to quality control checks

In addition to the in-house QC inspectors, three independent quality controllers are enlisted for spot checks as needed. The factory actively welcomes quality controllers from independent organizations or buying entities, fostering a collaborative and transparent approach to ensuring and enhancing product qual.

Stitching, Finishing & Packing

In Line QC

A sealed sample is displayed prominently in the central stitching area for comparative analysis. Two inspectors diligently supervise the stitching processes, conducting random checks to ensure the quality and consistency of producti

Final QC

Following the trimming process, our quality control team meticulously examines each garment, affixing a personalized quality control seal to signify approval. Subsequently, the approved garments undergo ironing before being carefully packed for distribution.

Final Inspectio

Random tests are carried out on the final.
